License Exception TMP (15 CFR §740.9) under the Export Administration Regulations (EAR) authorizes University of Arizona U.S. Persons to export, reexport, and transfer (in-country) University-owned commodities and software (“tools of trade”) for temporary use abroad. Tools of trade are those items (e.g.; instruments, equipment, software, technology, etc.) needed for use with the individual’s occupation/employment. The use of this exception is subject to certain conditions:

- (1) The TMP exception may not be used for Cuba, Iran, North Korea, Sudan, and Syria.
- (2) All items must remain in the individual’s “effective control”, defined as retaining physical possession of the item or keeping it secured in a place such as a hotel safe, a bonded warehouse, or a locked or guarded exhibition facility, while abroad. Tools of trade may accompany the individual noted above or may be shipped unaccompanied within one month before the individual’s departure from the U.S., or at any time after departure.
- (3) Software and technology used as a tool of trade may be used overseas solely by the individual listed above provided adequate security precautions are taken to protect against unauthorized access. Examples of adequate security precautions include: encryption of technology; the use of Virtual Private Network (VPN) connections when accessing email and other business activities; use of passwords on all electronic devices; and, the use of personal firewalls.
- (4) Individuals leaving the U.S. temporarily (i.e., traveling) must bring back all items exported and reexported under this TMP exception within twelve (12) months of the departure date.

This exception does not apply to anything controlled under the Department of State’s International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR).
